

Stamp Girl

Recognize the woman dancing in the new "Disco Music" postage stamp? It's Karen Lustgarten, who was publicist for Palm Beach Opera last season and is currently writer/producer of TV segments for WJMK Productions in Boca Raton.

Lustgarten is the model on the first-class stamp just issued by the U.S. Postal Service—one of 15 stamps commemorating the 1970s in the "Celebrate the Century"

photo taken of her 20 years ago for the cover of her best selling "how-to" book, The Complete Guide to Disco Dancing. When the public voted to commemorate the disco phenomenon in a postage stamp, the U.S. Postal Service tracked down Lustgarten to be the stamp's consultant, then model using the authentic photo of her dancing. A staged male model was superimposed to indicate a dancing
